

Reflector '49

Reflector nineteen 49

Whiting High School
Whiting, Indiana

This 49th year of the twentieth century marks the centennial of a vital era in our country's history. The "Gold Rush" period of 1849, when pioneers and homesteaders blazed unknown trails and opened the West for colonization, laid the foundation for a greater and stronger America. People, desiring riches and prosperity, began a new mode of life.

The class of 1949, aptly termed "Gold Diggers," seek far more than material wealth in their trek across the years. Their ultimate goal lies on a higher plane. Their desire is to search through life for the wealth of happiness, friendship, accomplishment and peace.

IN MEMORIAM

LAMAR C. GRUBB

Lamar C. Grubb, superintendent of the Whiting Public Schools, who died on January 17, 1949, in Indianapolis, has surely left his distinctive mark on the Whiting Schools, with which he was associated for almost 35 years.

During the six years in which Mr. Grubb served as superintendent, a complete modernization program was undertaken to improve the physical properties of the school. Modern tiled floors, sound-proofed ceilings and fluorescent lighting fixtures, which are advantageous to proper working conditions for students, were installed. Next came a new wing on the south end of the Senior High School building enlarging the shop and commercial department, thus giving Whiting High School one of the most modern and best equipped commercial departments in the Calumet District. Also plans for a new physical education building have been completed and construction is scheduled to begin.

Mr. Grubb, born on July 29, 1891, near Greencastle, Indiana, came to Whiting in September, 1914, as a teacher a graduate of DePauw University. In addition, he took graduate work at Purdue and the University of Chicago. After four years of teaching, Mr. Grubb was appointed principal of the senior high. In this position Mr. Grubb was respected by all, for he was cooperative and willing to accept suggestions from teachers and students alike. He became superintendent of schools in 1943.

He played an important part in the education of several generations of Whiting young people as teacher, principal, superintendent. The continued progress of the Whiting Public Schools during the past thirty years has been Lamar C. Grubb's greatest satisfaction.

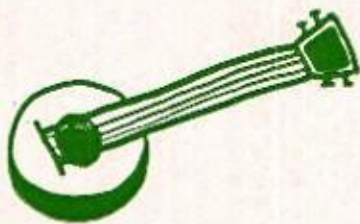

A Dedication

The Reflector staff of 1949 wishes to laud the commendable achievement of the present football team, which has acclaimed state-wide recognition of their feat of a perfect season. This record is unsurpassed in the annals of the school and probably will not be equalled for some time. With this thought in mind we dedicate this, the '49 Reflector, not only to the "1948 State Champions," but to every W.H.S. athlete who has participated in any sport for the glory of his Alma Mater and the betterment of himself.

Education during the days of the "Gold Rush" was considered impractical except for the very rich who could afford it. Education for most people then meant learning to make a living and keep a home. Searching and panning for gold expressed the pioneers' desire for riches they had never known.

Today's youth, too, are searching for gold, but in a different sense. Our "gold" is in the form of education which will also enable us to attain wealth, though of a different sort. Panning our "gold" applies to using our knowledge to the fullest degree when confronted with difficult situations, opportunities, or hardships. May our "gold" bring us the happiness and success we desire.

49! At last, it has become a reality! For countless weeks through the years we, the Gold Diggers, have awaited this year with intermingled feelings of joy, sadness, and expectation. Now we are saying farewell to our Alma Mater, which has duly served her purpose of making us intelligent citizens, capable of assuming leadership in the world of tomorrow.

As the culmination of our school days approaches, we find ourselves turning back the sands of time and reminiscing. When we open our scrapbook to page one, it is the year 1945 and we are being indentured for careers in the junior high. We eagerly grasped chances to join new clubs, participate in activities, and meet new friends. Our Freshman Frolic was quite a gala affair. For many of us it was our first date with corsages and dinner afterward. Following the democratic policy, we elected Roy Jancich, president; Alfred Kovalcik, vice president; Susan Haluka, secretary; and Neil Boyle, treasurer. Our class sponsor this year was Alvin P. Zieganhausen.

Starting a new section of the scrapbook, we arrive at the senior high with the rank of sophomores. For diversion we had a barn dance with all the effects at Halloween time. In sports we claimed laurels by winning the Freshman-Sophomore league football championship. We closed this year with our prom, "Moonlight and Roses." Guiding us through this year were our officers: president, Phil Mateja; vice president, Pat Francis; secretary, Charles O'Drobinak; treasurer, Edith Liland; and our class sponsor, Leonard Shaewitz.

With the official title of juniors, our third year began with great promise.

Senior Class History

The ordering of class rings, our Sadie Hawkins' Day dance, the Junior-Senior picnic, all inscribed their mark on our social calendar. Under the leadership of Joan Rowden, president; George Novotny, vice president; George Brown, secretary; Joanne Pustek, treasurer; and Miss Bernice Hormel, class advisor, we sponsored the all-important Junior-Senior Prom on May 21, 1948. "Cinderella's Ball" lived up to expectation and proved to be a tremendous success! This year we became interested in "Tattler" and "Reflector" work, in addition to participating in other extra-curricular activities to a greater extent. We portrayed additional interest in football and basketball as many members of our class held varsity starting positions.

The last section of our scrapbook is filled with memories of our senior year, which was the biggest by far. Making schedules which would equip us with enough major, minors, and credits, we began the last lap of our journey through high school.

Patricia Francis, Valedictorian; Rose Jancich, Salutatorian

D.A.R. Award Winner, Ann Crnkovich; Representative to Girls' State, Eleanor Petrin.

Social functions took the form of the Junior-Senior dance and picnic, Senior dance and party, and not to be forgotten, "The Prom." Sports played a major part with banquets, trophies, etc., for our "State Football Champs." Our basketball team also deserves special mention in view of their splendid record for the season. Class pictures and the inevitable Bums' Day added to the finality of school. And how can we ever forget Class Night and Commencement where everyone was jubilant and sorrowful at the same time!

Yes, these last four years, happily spent at Whiting High, hold fond memories for us all. This completes our scrapbook. Our inventory is now complete!

Next year we'll be seniors, oh just you wait.
Then it'll be different -- it'll be we who will rate.
This year we have suffered, for the seniors we slaved.
In initiations, and other things, we were subject, obeyed.

We'll run the clubs, top hats we will be!
We'll show that we're capable; everyone will see!
We've waited eleven years; we've sweated and earned
To call ourselves seniors and show what we've learned.

In the days of the forty-niners, social gatherings and affairs of a frivolous nature were limited because of the difficulties of travel, inadequate housing and the lawlessness of the wilderness. Later when the country became more populated, men and women were able to devote more of their time to leisure and the enjoyment of group activities.

The "Gold Diggers of 1949" have every opportunity to participate in activities in any field, be it educational, vocational, or extra-curricular. This sociability is as valuable to the student of today as his class work in adapting himself to life's problems and situations.

Every two weeks the students sit restlessly in their seventh period classes, waiting for the bell to ring so that they may rush to get their Tattlers.

Our bi-weekly school paper is produced through the combined efforts of the editorial staff, advised by Miss Ane Marie Petersen, and the print shop, under the supervision of Mr. B. J. Vesely.

Reporters cover school dances, plays, sports and fashions while stories are being written, typed, proof-read and edited.

The staff also supplies school news and publicity to the local newspapers and radio station.

The Tattler received All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association and First Class International Honor rating from the Quill and Scroll in 1948.

JUNIOR JOURNALISTS

Juniors interested in working on Tattler or Reflector staffs must take a semester of Journalism, where they learn the who, what, where, when, why, and how's of editing a paper.

Junior Journalists put out two cub editions of the Tattler during the year, one at the end of the first semester and the last edition in spring.

At the end of their semester's training, outstanding students are chosen to work on the Tattler staff as reporters for the remainder of their junior year and fill major staff positions when they are seniors.

Work on the 1949 Reflector was begun early in the fall of 1948. Subscriptions and advertising campaigns were started at once and carried on throughout the year.

The "Gold Rush" theme was chosen when the class acquired the nickname of "Gold Diggers of Forty-Nine."

The staff has endeavored to create an attractive yearbook dramatizing school life and activities.

School Orchestra

The Whiting High School Orchestra, directed by Adam P. Lesinsky, is one of the school's finest musical organizations. The annual spring concert is always one of the most popular events of the school year. The tuxedos purchased by the Band and Orchestra Parents' Association add the final touch to that occasion.

Other appearances of the orchestra during the year include playing for veterans' hospitals, civic organizations, dramatic presentations, and school assemblies.

The String Trio, a division of the orchestra, also is in demand for public performances. Members of the trio are Eleanor Petrin, Dorothy Dheur, and Drita Orhan.

A good violin section is an asset to every high school orchestra. It helps insure the success of the entire organization.

FOUR REASONS FOR NO ACCIDENTS IN THE HALLS

Thirteen years ago the Whiting High School Patrol Club was organized and since then it has made an excellent record in preventing traffic accidents and promoting safety among the students of Whiting High School, which are the purposes of the organization.

During these years there has been no fatal accident in the school area because of the efficient and cooperative work of each Patrol Club member.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. James Homco, seventeen members serve the club this year.

A homerun, we hope!!

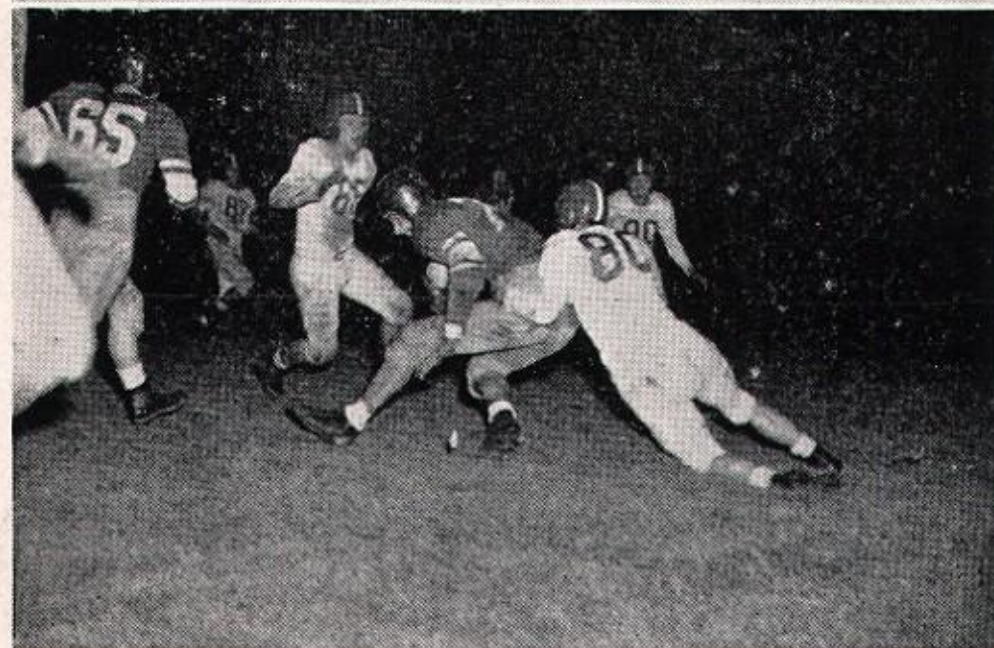

High ideals of sportsmanship and fair play were little known a century ago as lawlessness reigned in the western part of the United States. Justice was crude and disputes were often settled by means of fights. Most of the people were ignorant of or had no time for athletics and, therefore, did not have this outlet for their competitive spirit.

Sports in W.H.S. are none of the most important phases in the student's school life as they tend to supplement his academic courses. Not only do they satisfy physical demands but also help to build character, beneficial to better living.

Sports

Whiting High's gridders began a new era last fall as they walked off with the NIHSC championship crown, the first in the annals of the school. Starting fast and setting a torrid pace, the Oilers never were topped, ending the season with a brilliant 10-0 record.

The Green and White inaugurated the 1948 football season by defeating South Bend Central. After sailing through eight consecutive victories without a flaw over such teams as E. C. Roosevelt, Hammond High, Gary Emerson, and a strong Mansfield, Ohio, team, the Whitingites wound up their ten-game schedule by downing once again, this time in the championship game, the South Bend squad.

Fifteen years previous to this, in 1932 and 1933, the Oilers played for the same title against the same South Bend school. Both times, the Oil City boys were set back.

The solitary win came as the season opener against Hammond Tech. After the good start, the Green and White commenced to lose seven in a row at the hands of Clark, Noll Central, Morton, Washington, Hammond High, Roosevelt, and Horace Mann. The schedule included five games played at home and three contests played on the road.

Season Resume

Whiting High School gridders were not the only athletes to walk off with honors during 1948-49. The Oiler cagers came out of a up-and-down year to take a share of the conference crown. Title co-holder was Horace Mann of Gary. Each team wound up the conference schedule with an 8-3 record.

The Green and White started the season going backwards as they were tripped up by Clark and by Wells of Chicago. By the time the Holiday Tourney rolled around, Kovachic's cagers had acquired a record of four wins and three losses.

Although losing only one game by one point, that one being at the hands of Clark in the first contest of the year, the Oilers forced three games into overtime, never coming out on the losing end.

Most notable wins of the season included victories over Hammond Tech, Froebel, Hammond High, Emerson, Roosevelt and Hobart.

After downing a tall Hobart team in the sectionals, Roosevelt, once Whiting victims, returned their loss by downing the Oilers, 46 to 40.

When the smoke of the hoopla season had cleared away, the oil city boys came out of the me'ee with an enviable record of 14 wins and eight losses including both tourneys.

The Oiler "B" squad failed to duplicate the standards set by the varsity. The junior five, who played only 11 games all season because of doubleheaders and tournament games, won but five games while dropping seven contests. Victories were registered over the following: Hammond Clark (2), Froebel, Lew Wallace, and Gary Edison.

Freshman and sophomore boys also played on the "B" squad at various times. In their own league, however, the sophomores were victorious four times while suffering eleven setbacks. The freshmen fared no better as they won only three times while taking it on the chin in 13 contests.

Diamond Men—1948

Oiler batting leaders striving for record-breaking batting averages! !

Whiting diamond-men, although inspired by two previous Western Division championships, could not secure their third in a row. The Oiler team, captained by Ed Vanek, ended in third place in the conference race. East Chicago Washington came through to win the conference title. The Green and White culminated the season with a record of 13 wins and five setbacks.

Leading the Whiting sluggers was Phil Mateja, who batted .375. He was followed by Mazul, Vanek and Pilarcik, in that order.

Oiler moundsmen not only did a fine job of pitching but also did a generous share of the hitting. Pitching duties were upheld by Lynch, Vanek, who pitched two no-hitters, and Derwinski. No-hit victims of the Oiler pitching ace, who also twirled a perfect game the season before, were Emerson and East Chicago Washington.

THE MINE

Alma Mater, within thy walls we've had
 Memorable moments, both joyful and sad.
 Thoughts of our school days, thoughts of all kinds,
 Football games, dances, still fresh in our minds,
 Our teachers, their smiles, which we've loved thro' the years,
 Are no longer with us to help conquer our fears.
 Yes, Alma Mater, you've helped us indeed.
 Through the long years, you've filled every need.

Our best days are over, years of high school are through,
 Life's roads our halls, our surroundings all new,
 Experience our teacher, lives all our own,
 Whatever we've learned shall from now on be shown.
 Geometry, physics, chemistry and health,
 All make deposits and add to our wealth.
 Farewell, Alma Mater, once again we give you
 Our thanks as of now and our love the years through.
